NOTE

This document includes all amendments tabled to date and includes any withdrawn amendments at the end. The amendments have been arranged in accordance with the Order of the Committee [25 June 2020].

Alex Cunningham

35

Clause 1, page 1, line 8, at end insert—

“(ab) In subsection (3), after “if” insert “the court has found beyond reasonable doubt that””

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment determines that a court must decide beyond reasonable doubt that an offence has a terrorist connection.

Alex Cunningham

36

Clause 1, page 3, line 30, at end insert—

“(8) Before this section comes into force, the Secretary of State must commission an analysis of the impact of this section on people with protected characteristics, including but not limited to—

- (a) the impact on people from minority faith groups, including the numbers received into prison and the length of the sentence served;
- (b) the impact on people from BAME communities, including the numbers received into prison and the length of the sentence served; and
- (c) the consequences of any disproportionate impact on people with protected characteristics on efforts by the prison authorities to rehabilitate prisoners convicted of terrorism offences.

(9) A copy of the analysis must be laid before both Houses of Parliament.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment requires the Secretary of State to commission an analysis of the equality impact of extending the ability of the court to identify a terrorism connection.

Alex Cunningham

37

Clause 4, page 5, line 32, at end insert—

- “(7) The pre-sentence report must—
- (a) take account of the offender’s age;
 - (b) consider whether options other than a serious terrorism sentence might be more effective at—
 - (i) reducing the risk of serious harm to members of the public, or
 - (ii) rehabilitating the offender.
- (8) The court must take account of any points made by the pre-sentence report in relation to the matters in subsection (7) and consider whether they constitute exceptional circumstances under subsection (2).”

Alex Cunningham

38

Clause 5, page 7, line 35, after “25 years.”, insert—

- “(5) Where—
- (a) a prisoner is subject to a licence for an extension period under this section, and
 - (b) the qualifying period has expired,
- the Secretary of State shall, if directed to do so by the National Probation Service, order that the licence is to cease to have effect.
- (6) Where—
- (a) the prisoner has been released on licence for an extension period under this section;
 - (b) the qualifying period has expired; and
 - (c) if the prisoner has made a previous application under this subsection, a period of at least twelve months has expired since the disposal of that application,
- the prisoner may make an application to the National Probation Service under this subsection.
- (7) Where an application is made under subsection (6) above, the National Probation Service—
- (a) shall, if it is satisfied that it is no longer necessary for the protection of the public that the licence should remain in force, direct the Secretary of State to make an order that the licence is to cease to have effect;
 - (b) shall otherwise dismiss the application.

- (8) In this section, “the qualifying period”, in relation to a prisoner who has been released on licence, means the period of ten years beginning with the date of his release.”

Clause 6, page 8, line 10, at end insert—

“(ea) the court does not impose an order for lifelong restriction under section 210F of the Criminal Procedure (Scotland) Act 1995, and”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment disapplies Clause 6 if an order for lifelong restriction, a sentence unique to Scotland, has been imposed.

Alex Cunningham

45

Clause 6, page 9, line 20, leave out subsection (11) and insert—

“(11) In forming an opinion for the purposes of subsections (1)(d) and (6), the court must consider a report by a relevant officer of a local authority about the offender and the offender’s circumstances.

(11A) Where the offender is under 21 years of age, the report must—

- (a) take account of the offender’s age; and
 - (b) consider whether options other than a serious terrorism sentence might be more effective at—
 - (i) reducing the risk of serious harm to members of the public, or
 - (ii) rehabilitating the offender;
- and the court must take these factors into account when forming its opinion under subsection (6).

(11B) In considering the report, the court must, if it thinks it necessary, hear the relevant officer.”

Alex Cunningham

46

Clause 7, page 10, line 13, at end insert—

“(2A) Where the offender is under the age of 21, in forming an opinion for the purposes of paragraph (2), the court must consider and take into account a pre-sentence report within the meaning of Article 4 which must—

- (a) take account of the offender’s age; and
 - (b) consider whether options other than a serious terrorism sentence might be more effective at—
 - (i) reducing the risk of serious harm to members of the public, or
 - (ii) rehabilitating the offender.”

Alex Cunningham

39

Clause 11, page 12, line 42, at end insert—

“(7) Before this section comes into force, the Government must publish an analysis of the impact of the introduction of minimum term orders for terrorism offenders on sentencing for other offences.

(8) A copy of the analysis must be laid before both Houses of Parliament.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment requires the Government to publish an analysis of the impact of the minimum terms on sentencing for related offences.

Alex Cunningham

40

Clause 16, page 16, line 29, at end insert—

“(4) Section 255 of the Sentencing Code is amended as follows.

(5) After subsection (2) insert—

“(3) The pre-sentence report must in the case of a serious terrorism offence under section 256(4)(b)(iii)—

(a) take account of the offender’s age;

(b) consider whether options other than an extension period of eight to ten years might be more effective at—

(i) reducing the risk of serious harm to members of the public, or

(ii) rehabilitating the offender.”

(4) The court must take account of any points made by the pre-sentence report in relation to the matters in subsection (3).”

(6) The Secretary of State must at least once a year conduct and lay before Parliament a review of the effectiveness of the provisions of this section and their impact upon offenders.

(7) The report of the first review must be laid before Parliament within one year of this Act being passed.”

Alex Cunningham

41

Clause 17, page 17, line 4, at end insert—

“(4) Section 267 of the Sentencing Code is amended as follows.

(5) After subsection (2) insert—

“(2A) The pre-sentence report must in the case of a serious terrorism offence under section 268(4)(b)(iii)—

(a) take account of the offender’s age;

(b) consider whether options other than an extension period of eight to ten years might be more effective at—

(i) reducing the risk of serious harm to members of the public, or

- (ii) rehabilitating the offender.
- (2B) The court must take account of any points made by the pre-sentence report in relation to the matters in subsection (2A).”
- (6) The Secretary of State must at least once a year conduct and lay before Parliament a review of the effectiveness of the provisions of this section and their impact upon offenders.
- (7) The report of the first review must be laid before Parliament within one year of this Act being passed.”

Alex Cunningham

42

Clause 21, page 18, line 23, at end insert—

- “(3) Before this section comes into force, the Secretary of State must conduct an analysis of the impact of this section on people with protected characteristics, including but not limited to—
 - (a) the impact on people from minority faith groups, including the numbers received into prison and the length of the sentence served;
 - (b) the impact on people from BAME communities, including the numbers received into prison and the length of the sentence served; and
 - (c) the consequences of any disproportionate impact on people with protected characteristics on efforts by the prison authorities to rehabilitate prisoners convicted of terrorism offences.
- (4) A copy of the analysis must be laid before both Houses of Parliament.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment requires the Secretary of State to commission an analysis of the impact of extending sentences for offenders of particular concern on people with protected characteristics.

10

Schedule 13, page 102, line 22, at end insert—

“Criminal Justice Act 1982 (c. 48)

- 6A In section 32 of the Criminal Justice Act 1982 (early release of prisoners to make the best use of the places available for detention, subject to certain exceptions)—
- (a) in subsection (1)(a), after “protection” insert “, a serious terrorism sentence”;
 - (b) in subsection (1A), after paragraph (c) insert—
 - “(ca) references to a serious terrorism sentence are to a sentence under section 268A or 282A of the Sentencing Code;”.

Mental Health Act 1983 (c. 20)

- 6B In section 37 of the Mental Health Act 1983 (as amended by the Sentencing Act 2020) (power of courts to order hospital admission etc)—
- (a) in subsection (1A), for “273, 274” substitute “268A, 273, 274, 282A”;
 - (b) in subsection (1B), after paragraph (a) insert—
 - “(aa) a sentence falls to be imposed under section 268A or 282A of that Code if it is required by section 268B(2) or 282B(2) of that Code and the court is not of the opinion there mentioned;”.

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment excludes an offender serving a serious terrorism sentence from the possibility of early release under the Criminal Justice Act 1982 and provides that a requirement to impose a serious terrorism sentence does not prevent a court from ordering the offender’s detention in hospital in cases where the offender suffers from a mental disorder.

Chris Philp

11

Schedule 13, page 103, line 16, at end insert—

- “(9) In section 264(7) (as amended by the Sentencing Act 2020) (application of provisions about consecutive sentences of imprisonment to sentences of detention), for “or 266” substitute “, 266 or 268A”.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment ensures that the provisions in section 264 of the Criminal Justice Act 2003 (dealing with treatment of consecutive sentences) will apply in relation to serious terrorism sentences including such sentences of detention in a young offender institution.

Chris Philp

Schedule 13, page 103, line 23, at end insert—

- “(1A) In section 15 (committal for sentence of dangerous adult offenders)—
- (a) after subsection (1) insert—
 - “(1A) This section also applies where—
 - (a) on the summary trial of an offence specified in Schedule 17A triable either way a person is convicted of the offence, and
 - (b) the court is of the opinion that the circumstances are such that a serious terrorism sentence (see section 268A or 282A) may be required to be imposed.”;
 - (b) in subsection (6), for “a specified offence” substitute “an offence”.
 - (1B) In section 59(2) (provisions to which duty to follow sentencing guidelines is subject), after paragraph (g) insert—
 - “(ga) sections 268B and 282B (requirement to impose serious terrorism sentence);”.
 - (1C) In section 61 (sentencing guidelines: extended sentences and life sentences)—
 - (a) in the heading, after “extended sentences” insert “, serious terrorism sentences”;

(b) after subsection (2) insert—

“Serious terrorism sentence: determination of appropriate custodial term

(2A) Subsection (2B) applies where a court is required to impose a serious terrorism sentence for an offence.

(2B) In determining the appropriate custodial term for the purposes of section 268C(2)(b) or 282C(2)(b) (serious terrorism sentences: appropriate custodial term exceeding 14-year minimum), section 60 applies to the court as it applies to a court in determining the sentence for an offence.”

(1D) In section 120(2)(a) (exceptions to the general power to fine offender convicted on indictment), after sub-paragraph (ii) (but before the final “or”) insert—

“(iia) paragraph (ba) (serious terrorism sentences),”.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment make amendments to certain provisions in the Sentencing Code, which are consequential on the introduction of the new serious terrorism sentence.

Chris Philp

13

Schedule 13, page 104, line 10, at end insert—

“(4A) In section 262(3) (circumstances in which detention in young offender institution required), after “mentioned in” insert “—

(a) section 399(ba) (serious terrorism sentences);

(b) ”.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment make an amendment to section 262 of the Sentencing Code consequential on the introduction of the new serious terrorism sentence.

Chris Philp

14

Schedule 13, page 104, line 27, leave out paragraph (a)

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment removes an unnecessary consequential amendment.

Chris Philp

15

Schedule 13, page 105, line 6, leave out paragraph (a)

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment removes an unnecessary consequential amendment.

Chris Philp

16

Schedule 13, page 106, line 11, at end insert—

“Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (c. 53)

10A In section 5 of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 as it forms part of the law of England and Wales (as amended by the Sentencing Act 2020) (rehabilitation periods for particular sentences)—

(a) in subsection (1)(d), after “or section 250” insert “or 252A”;

- (b) in subsection (8)(f), before “of the Sentencing Code” insert “or 252A.”

Member’s explanatory statement

This amendment and amendments 17, 18, 20 to 22, 24 and 27 to 29 add consequential amendments to ensure that young offenders given the new type of sentence introduced by clause 22(2) are treated in the same way, for various statutory purposes, as those serving an ordinary sentence of youth detention.

Chris Philp
