URGENT QUESTIONS AND STATEMENTS

12.30pm

- Urgent Questions (if any)
- Ministerial Statements (if any)

PRESENTATION OF BILLS

No debate (Standing Order No. 57)

- Railways (Franchises)

Tim Farron

Bill to require the Secretary of State to terminate a rail passenger services franchise agreement in certain circumstances; to repeal section 25 of the Railways Act 1993; to make provision for local franchising authorities in England; and for connected purposes.

BUSINESS OF THE DAY

1. CRIMINAL RECORDS (CHILDHOOD OFFENCES): TEN MINUTE RULE MOTION

Up to 20 minutes (Standing Order No. 23)

Theresa Villiers

That leave be given to bring in a Bill to make provision about the criminal records of persons aged under 18 on the day an offence was committed; and for connected purposes.

Notes:

The Member moving and a Member opposing this Motion may each speak for up to 10 minutes.

2. AGRICULTURE BILL: SECOND READING

Until 7.00pm (Standing Order No. 9(3))

Jeremy Corbyn

Sue Hayman

Rebecca Long Bailey

Dr David Drew

Valerie Vaz

Mr Nicholas Brown

That this House, whilst recognising that on leaving the EU the UK needs to shift agricultural support from land-based payments to the delivery of environmental and other public benefits, declines to give a Second Reading to the Agriculture Bill because it fails to provide a strategy to safeguard the nation's food supply at a time when food poverty and foodbank demand are rising rapidly alongside an epidemic in food-related health inequality, fails to recognise the central importance of UK sustainable food production and supply, leading to a greater reliance on imports, while failing to provide for controls over the production methods, working conditions, or animal welfare and environmental standards in countries from which the UK's food is imported, and, when the natural environment is in crisis, with species decline at an alarming scale, soil degradation and increasingly volatile and extreme weather conditions driven by escalating climate change, provides the Secretary of State with wide-ranging powers but no duties or legally enforceable environmental protection targets, whilst giving Parliament limited ability to scrutinise any changes in the regime, and fails to legislate for current funding to continue until 2022 as Ministers have promised; and is of the opinion that the publication of such a Bill should have been preceded by a full process of pre-legislative scrutiny of a draft Bill.

Deidre Brock

Ian Blackford

Kirsty Blackman

Pete Wishart

Alan Brown

Patrick Grady

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Agriculture Bill on the basis that a final agreement for exiting the European Union has yet to be agreed between the UK and the European Union, that the Bill undermines the fundamental principles of the Scotland Act 1998 by reserving powers to the UK Parliament which are currently devolved to the Scottish Parliament, that the Bill fails to reaffirm assurances that post-Brexit funding for the rural economy will be at least matched by the United Kingdom Government and that the Bill should not be considered by this House until an agreement is reached between the UK Government and the European Union as well as with the Scottish Parliament.

Caroline Lucas

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Agriculture Bill because it fails to embrace the scale of change needed in food and farming policy to properly address the joint ecological crises of climate change and biodiversity loss, fails to put agro-ecological farming, including organic farming, at the heart of future land management schemes including providing relevant training opportunities for farmers, particularly during the transition period, and, overall, fails to account for the vital role healthy food must play in improving public health, fails to prioritise the restoration of the natural world above narrow definitions of productivity, fails to guarantee sufficient levels of ongoing funding to restore and protect the natural world and fails to introduce binding targets on restoring soils, water and biodiversity, fails to guarantee and protect minimum standards for the environment, animal welfare and workers' rights and to protect farmers and the public, particularly from the impacts of deregulation in the case of trade deals with non-EU countries, fails to introduce a target for reducing the use of pesticides, despite their devastating impact on the health of the natural world; and believes that whilst the inclusion of public money for public goods is welcome, the failure to place legal duties on the Government to enact such measures means this Bill represents a wholly inadequate response to challenges, economic, social and environmental, facing the UK.

Liz Saville Roberts

Ben Lake

Jonathan Edwards

Hywel Williams

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Agriculture Bill on the basis that a final agreement for exiting the European Union has yet to be agreed between the UK and the European Union, that the Bill undermines the fundamental principles of the Government of Wales Act 2006 by reserving powers to the UK Parliament which are currently devolved to the National Assembly for Wales, that the Bill fails to reaffirm assurances that post-Brexit funding for the rural economy will be at least matched by the United Kingdom Government and that the Bill should not be considered by this House until an agreement is reached between the UK Government and the European Union as well as with the National Assembly for Wales.

Notes:

The Speaker has certified that clauses 1 to 3, 12 to 18 and 20 of the Agriculture Bill (Bill 266) relate exclusively to England and are within devolved legislative competence (Standing Order No. 83J). Queen's Consent to be signified on Third Reading.
