Up to two hours and 15 minutes; suspension; up to two hours (if the Business of the House (18 May) Motion is agreed to)

Daisy Cooper

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Bill because the Bill fails to secure the rights of British citizens to live, work and study in other EU Member States and the rights of EU citizens to do likewise in the UK, fails to fully guarantee the rights of British citizens across the EU and of EU citizens already in the UK, fails to establish an immigration system to replace free movement that would allow businesses and public services to recruit the workers they need, contains no provisions to dismantle the hostile environment or to make the immigration system simpler, fairer and more compassionate, and denies parliamentary sovereignty by granting excessive powers to the Government to make fundamental changes to the immigration system without primary legislation.

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Bill because the Bill fails to secure the rights of British citizens to live, work and study in other EEA Member States, does not include provision for EEA citizens currently living in the UK to be granted automatic permanent settled status, contains no provisions to end the hostile environment; and usurps parliamentary sovereignty by granting excessive powers to the Government to make changes to all immigration law with minimal legislative scrutiny and without primary legislation.

Stuart C McDonald
Ian Blackford
Kirsty Blackman
Joanna Cherry
Kenny MacAskill
Patrick Grady

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Bill because the Bill fails to respond to the coronavirus pandemic through a coherent system of visa extensions, the scrapping of no recourse to public funds rules, protection of asylum seekers, relief for families impacted by financial thresholds in the immigration rules, release of immigration detainees and stability for employers recruiting from the EEA; because instead of ending the hostile environment and fixing the injustice, bureaucracy and expense of the UK immigration system highlighted in the Windrush Lessons Learned Review and other reports, the Bill extends that system to EEA nationals; because the Bill seeks to end free movement of people, despite the huge benefits it brings for the UK, and for UK and EEA citizens; because the Bill fails to provide adequate protections and rights for EEA nationals currently in the UK and is inconsistent with a close trading relationship with the EU, or an extension of the transition period; because the Bill fails to provide for a successor to Dublin III or other safe legal routes; because the Bill provides unacceptably broad powers for Ministers; because the Bill fails to recognise the negative impact that these policies will have on the different nations and regions of the UK; and because the Bill fails to provide for a differentiated migration policy or devolution of powers to Scotland and other devolved nations, so that the damage these measures would cause can be reversed.

The call list for Members participating is available on the House of Commons business papers pages.

3. IMMIGRATION AND SOCIAL SECURITY CO-ORDINATION (EU WITHDRAWAL) BILL: PROGRAMME

No debate (if the Business of the House (18 May) Motion is agreed to) (Standing Order No. 83A\(7\))

4. IMMIGRATION AND SOCIAL SECURITY CO-ORDINATION (EU WITHDRAWAL) BILL: MONEY

No debate (if the Business of the House (18 May) Motion is agreed to) (Standing Order No. 52\(1\)\(a\))

Jesse Norman

That, for the purposes of any Act resulting from the Immigration and Social Security Co-ordination (EU Withdrawal) Bill, it is expedient to authorise the payment out of money provided by Parliament of:

TRADE BILL: SECOND READINGCaroline Lucas

That this House declines to give a Second Reading to the Trade Bill because whilst provisions to establish trade agreements following the UK’s exit from the EU are necessary, the Bill fails to uphold democratic scrutiny, contains no provisions for transparency during trade negotiations or Parliamentary oversight of agreements, gives the Executive further unchecked powers to legislate on trade, fails to improve inadequate scrutiny processes enshrined in the Constitutional Reform and Governance Act, leaves UK parliamentarians with less influence over trade policy than their counterparts in other states, does not provide Members of this House with votes on negotiating mandates or trade agreements, overlooks the significant impact of trade agreements on public policy, does not require comprehensive sustainability impact assessments of trade deals, endangers the UK’s social, labour, environmental and agricultural standards and fails to ensure that imported products adhere to at least equivalent standards, does not preclude the inclusion of Investor-State Dispute Settlements in trade agreements, does not focus trade agreements on the Paris Climate Agreement's ambition to limit global temperature increase to 1.5 degrees or ensure that they are designed to meet the UK's climate and biodiversity objectives, and does not require trade agreements to deliver the Sustainable Development Goals, and does not recognise that the climate and biodiversity emergencies and the Covid-19 pandemic require a fundamental rewrite of the rules of global economy and the objectives of trade policy.

TRADE BILL: MONEY

Jesse Norman

That, for the purposes of any Act resulting from the Trade Bill, it is expedient to authorise the payment out of money provided by Parliament of any expenditure incurred by a Minister of the Crown, government department or other public authority under or by virtue of the Act.
